The Position of Our City Council.

We do not know which one of the members of our city delegation will be chosen to present to the Legislature the petition of the City Council asking that its powers be enlarged by giving it duties now performed by the Board of Public Intersts; but that gentleman will have an ungrateful duty to perform.

So far as we know public sentiment tention.

Alas, just at the he said: time that the City Council begins to vaunt "The Secretary said that Democrate itself and depreciate the Board of Public Interests come disclosures of how the Council has managed the gas-works-disclosures which are very astonishing, and very mortifaing to the community, however they may appear to the City Council.

As we have said, the time is now near As we have said, the time is now near the council as well as a support of the City in the platform."

"The Secretary said that Democrate differed honestly, he believed. For those who differed with him he had profound respect. He objected to calling the present division in the Democratic party a family quarrel. Call it rather, said he, a family consultation."

"But whatever may happen in the next national convention of the Democratic party, he trusted that all Democrats would abide by the result as expressed in the platform."

at hand when the request of the City Council for a charter amendment will be the change urged by the Council be not ought to lay down a platform upon granted; that the Board of Public Interests be let alone, and that the gasworks and perhaps other city departments now managed by Council committees be put under commissions.

Of course, no legislative action will be taken before the citizens' meeting is held in the hall of the Chamber of Commerce. Prominent gentlemen have been invited to attend that meeting, and to discuss the pros and cons of the pr charter-change. Both sides will be fully heard. Two speakers will argue in favor of giving the City Council more power and patronage, while two will contend that the City Council ought to have less power and patronage. by the way, the members of the legislative committees which will have charge of the City Council's charter-change bill should be invited to be present. To be present will be to give themselves a fine start on the way to understanding the Indeed, we should like to have all of the members of the Legislature invited to the citizens' meeting. It would afford opportunity for the formation of acquaintour leading business-men and city officials, and do good in divers ways.

As a rule, the average Richmond business-man is too indifferent to matters affecting our city government. Little he helps it by his counsel or encouragement We should not wonder if our ess-men and tax-payers generally, after due investigation, appointed a com mittee to present their views to the Legislature, especially with reference to the proposition to give the City Council more patronage and power.

The State Senate Investigating Committee, now in session in Philadelphia, has turned the light on the electric-light bination which has that city in its greedy grasp. The revelations made fursished a startling story of the way city officials have banded themselves together to get rich at the public expense. Nine electric-light companies furnish the streetlights for the city at a total cost to the The companies want for the coming year an additional $130,000 to pay for extensions rates. An average of 5,300 lights at $159.68 per light are maintained, as against 2.121 New York, 1,481 in Chicago, and 2,286 Boston. Comparisons were furnished, owing that electric-lights are now costin Williamsport, and $75 in St. Louis. In plain terms, Philadelphia maintains lights then any other two cities in the country at prices nearly double those paid in any prominent city in Pennsyl- rary."

This extortion is made possible arrangement (of which the City Council was cognizant) by which no one of the nine companies enters the territory covered by another.

Republican Hopes.

Yost's Weekly has a long article this week on the changed condition of things n the Republican party which has re sulted from the death of General Mahone and the election of Colonel Lamb to be chairman of the Republican State Committee as well as the Virginia member of the Republican National Committee. That paper says:

"Republicans of Virginia are determined to make a fight to give the electoral" vote of this State to the Republican cantrated effort and influence they can con mand to aid them in that contest. We will have the assistance of the National Committee, if it can be shown to them that we have a fighting chance."

In announcing General Mahone's death, we said that it would become the Democrats to put on their armor, as they were going to have a more formidable Republican party to meet in battle array than they had ever before had to encounter Yost's Weekly is an able organ of the Republicans of this State. So we may calculate with certainty that the programme it lays down is the programme of the Virginia Republicans.

What says the Weekly? Why, that the Republicans of Virginia are determined to make a fight to give the electoral vote of this State to the Republican nominee for President in 1896. That paper adds that the Virginia Republicans will have the assistance of the National Committee if it can be shown to the committee that the Virginia Republicans have a fighting chance. And the Virginia Republicans will surely strive to convince the National Committee that they need help and are worthy of help.

The Weekly thus forewarns the Democrats of Virginia that they have a difficult and dangerous path to pursue in their own State. They must put on their armor, and not lay it down nor take it off until after the presidential election of next year. We must prepare for a battle with what we may call new Republican leaders. We do not wish to underrate General Mahone's leadership, but rather to notify the Democrats that whatever they may have had heretofore, they now have "foemen worthy of their steel." At such a time, we must not allow ephemeral issues to engage our at-

The Democratic Party-Again.

Those who advocate committing the Democrats to the policy of dividing on the silver question seem to assume that works demonstrate that the City Council the Democratic party will certainly be next year. But this is going too mittees; and, unhappily, much of it is and too fast. No man can tell what a badly done. Instead of asking for more day may bring forth. No man can tell how the aspect of things will be changed between now and the assembling of the Democratic National Convention. No man can foresee what a happy compromise may be effected by the long heads of the convention. Why may not the silverites as well as the gold monometallists agree upon international co-operation in fixing the coinage value moved from political influences. Both are conducted on business bases. Both silver? The silver question is the question are exempt from the changes to which the of a day. It may be settled at any people excellent service. But, lo! the day night last, Secretary Hoke Smith doubtless spoke for the President as "Take away power from the well as for himself when he declared Board of Public Interests and give it to us. against getting into a quarrel with his brother Democrats. We again print what in the platform."

Is not this good advice? If not, it heard by the Legislature. It will, how- must be because the Democrats ought ever, be resisted by many of our best to divide on the silver question. If not, These citizens will ask that then the Democratic National Convention which only one section of the Democratic party can stand. If not, then Secretary Smith is wrong, President Cleveland is wrong, and the Democrats bught to engage in a family quarrel and ought to style it a quarrel.

Retirement of Greenbacks

The reader will have noticed that in the United States Senate on Thursday Mr. Gallinger, of New Hampshire, offered a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the Senate that it is unwise and inexpedient to retire the greenbacks, and it was referred to the Committee on

Mr. Gallinger is a Republican. It may be assumed that there are many other Republicans besides him and Mr. Sherman who will oppose the retirement of the greenbacks. There will be a fight of long duration before there will be any law passed in this country for retiring the United States Treasury-notes known as greenbacks. In speaking of his retire-ution, Mr. Gallinger said:

"My resolution relating to the retire-ment of greenbacks was my individual act. I have not consulted with any one about it, but I gather from the express-ions I have heard in the Senate, and from what I know of the public sentifrom what I know of the public senti-ment, that no one except the President wants the greenbacks retired. It seems to me to be a very unwise thing to sug-gest the retirement of nearly $50,000,000 of currency. It would bring untold ruin upon us. I do not think, either, that the people want the debt of the government increased to such an extent. I feel sure that if my resolution is brought to a that if my resolution is brought to a vote it will pass by an overwhelming

The Opposition to Catchings

If the Washington Post is not mistaken, in internecine war has broken out in Democratic party in Washington. Mr. Catchings, of Mississippi, is a soundmoney Democrat, and for this reason his appointment to a prominent place on a committee is opposed by the free silver-ites. This is the condition of things which we have feared would obtain in Virginia, We quote Mr. Bailey, of Texas, who said day before yesterday:

"It is true that I have protested against Mr. Catchings's appointment. I am, however, not the only one, The number of those opposed to his selection as a member of the Committee on Rules represents a majority of the 165 Democrats in the House. They object to having him designated as a representative southern Democrat standing for the Democratic party in the House." said day before yesterday:

Mr. Bailey added:
"Mr. Catchings does not represent our views on the financial question, and there are other reasons. We think we are justified in asking the Speaker to give the minority such representation as correctly reflects its prevailing sentiment, and that Mr. Catchings does not do. He represents only a minority of the Democratic members, and for that reason should give way to some one in better accord with the party."

greatest measure of economy that could possibly be adopted by our Legislature would be to provide for expert examination of the drafting and signing of official bonds. Whether the sureties on these bonds are private persons or guarantee companies, it is important, that bonds should be so drawn and signed that they will hold when the pinch comes Under the present practice in Virginia, many bonds are seen to be defective as soon as the State enters suit against the sureties upon them. If the Legislature cannot possibly remedy this great evil, it would be money in the Treasury to call a constitutional convention to do it. There are doubtless in existence at this time scores of official bonds that would not hold good if the sureties were sued and should contest the claims of the

One Woman Said to Another Woman

"Whenever I want anything in the housefurnishing line I always go to CAU-DLE & ROANE'S, because they sell me what I want-don't try to shove off something else if they don't happen to have what I wish to buy; and then again, they have such a varied assortment. Then there is another reason: I don't always happen to have ready cash, and I can buy there anything I want without being compelled to pay a larger amount simply because I don't possess so much of this world's goods as my neighbor. In a world, ouy Furniture or Carpets or Household Fixings."
